Black Shorts

Black Denim shorts with black lace

This little black shorts carry not so little story . This was the first short garment I wore after 4 years which I got it hidden from my father . These shorts never made me feel fat ,short , dark but myself . These shorts were there with me before my weight loss journey and even after . But little did I know the new chapter of my life had these shorts coming with flames to burn my entire belief system . These were the shorts that I wore to a trip to goa with my cousins which no sooner became the talk of my family and the parameter of my personality . One little black shorts ,huge group picture and one statement which led me to question myself .I had a certain kind of counselling and faced self image issues where each night I wanted to burn and flush this garment but that wouldn't blow off the fire of guilt inside me .

So with the help of Louise Hay and her books on self love I today appreciate everything and wouldn't want to change my past because that is the reason I am my present self and aspire to change the future of tomorrow.
